Roll and Draw a Turkey

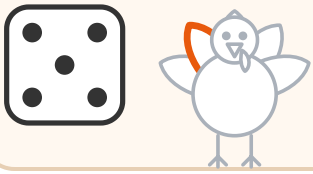

Roll a die. Find your number and add that part to the turkey (the orange part in the picture). Already have it? Roll again! Your turkey needs 5 feathers: color a star for each one.

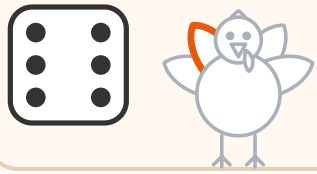

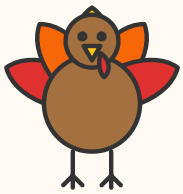

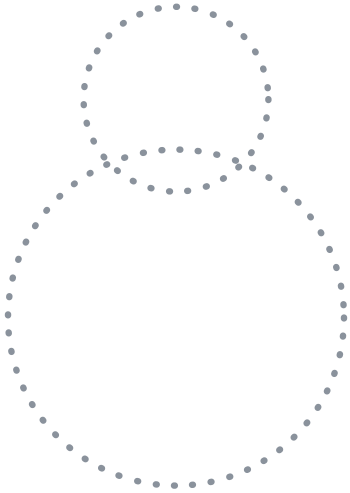

Trace the body and head first. Then roll!

💡 For grown-ups: why it works. Reading the dots on a die without counting them one by one is called subitizing, a key number-sense skill. Every part is a shape most 4 to 6 year olds can draw (dots, a triangle, ovals, lines), and the body and head are printed to trace, so any roll can be drawn. It does not need to look like the example. Play together: each player draws their own turkey.
